Kevin Hurdt

Lubbock, TX

To whom it may concern,

Ever since starting to learn how to build websites and apps through CareerFoundry, I've had to manage a full-time job and time with family; however, that has not stopped me from enjoying building efficient and effective apps with React and Angular that can be very useful in the industry.

I have learned the importance of security with data using JWT tokens and implementing CORS and maintaining data integrity. I have learned how to create reusable and cleaner code throughout my projects. I've also been learning and will learn how to accept corrections and receive instruction from others joyfully and humbly.

I am eager to be a wonderful asset to an excellent team, to grow deeper in my knowledge with the same or many other languages, and to build meaningful apps that will serve others with ease and comfort.

Sincerely,

Kevin Hurdt
